BURNED WHILE AID WAS COMING.

LITTLE IRWIN LABEE'S BROTHER
SET FIRE TO HIM.

A HEROIC WOMAN SAW IT.

Mrs. Rosner Might Have Saved the Lad, but the Gate Was Tightly Fastened.

The condition of little Irwin Labee, the 3-year-old boy who was burned in Carondelet yesterday afternoon while playing with matches, is so serious to-day that his recovery is not expected. He is kept constantly under the influence of opiates to kill his pain. The little fellow's 4-year-old brother, who is responsible for the accident, has a few burns on his fingers, but they are not bad enough to annoy him much. As a result of the sad occurrence, every mother in Carondelet is scolding her children about the danger of playing with matches, for it was this causing but hard-headed pastime which caused all the trouble. The Labees live at 2370 West Stein street. The head of the family is Joseph Labee, a hard-working man. He and his wife have two children, Orville and Irwin. They are nice little chaps, but as mischievous as monkeys—a condition to be expected in youngsters of this age.

They strayed out of their own yard to get their Wednesday afternoon and decided that they would go over to the home of little Annie Young at 712 Minnesota avenue, which is only a block away. Their Young yard is a great resort for the children in that neighborhood, as it is unusually roomy and houses a dog, a pump and a lot of chickens. The boys tried the front gate and found it fastened. They let out a few squeals for someone to come and let them in, but no one answered. With a scream around the end of the yard and clambered over a board fence by the aid of much aid of grunting.

Next door to the Youngs on the south lives Mrs. Katherine Rosner, 7508 Minnesota avenue, who was visiting her. The daughter sat at the back window of the second-story holding her baby in her arms and watching the Labee boys. She could catch sight of them now and again as they ran in and out of the little yard shed. Pretty soon she saw the lighted matches.

"My goodness," she exclaimed to her mother, "those boys are playing with matches. The first thing they know they will have each other on fire." Hardly had Mrs. Rosner spoken these words when she saw Orville scratch a match and poke it in his younger brother's face. The latter threw up his hand and the blaze caught the sleeve of his little jacket.

Instantly it was over. With a scream of alarm Mrs. Rosner hugged her baby to her breast, opened the door and started down the outside back steps to save the little fellow. Her mother followed her as rapidly as she could.

It was necessary for the two women to run around to the front of the Essner house, through their front gate into the street in order to get at the Young's front gate. But this was fastened. They tried to get it open, but it would not budge to their trembling fingers. They could see little Irwin staggering toward the fire with the flames with his hands and screaming in terrible pain. Orville was by his side trying with all his might to put out the blaze with his little fingers, but he was making no progress. The two women were frantic. Just then an old, white-haired man ran across the street and grabbing the gate, burst it open. Mrs. Rosner tossed her baby to her mother and seized the burning boy. She rolled him on the ground, and, assisted by the old man, and her mother, who turned the baby under one arm and fought the flames with the other hand, she succeeded in extinguishing the fire.

Little Irwin's condition was pitiable. The clothing had been burned from the upper part of his body. His stomach, back and arms were blackened and raw. Although the pain must have been intense, the little fellow did not lose consciousness. The women carried the suffering child to the office of Dr. Arnold Selmer at 116 Stein street, next door to his home. Here the burns were dressed and opiates administered to deaden the pain. After his examination of the boy, Dr. Selmer did not think he could live.

Where the matches came from is a mystery. Orville declares that he found them in the Young yard, but Mrs. Young says this could not be. She uses only the slow black-headed sulphur matches and those the boys had were the red-headed cracking kind. A number of them were found in the shed, where they were left by the children.

To a Post-Dispatch reporter Orville Labee admitted that he had set fire to his brother, but his father said he had persistently denied it at that time and had even claimed that another boy had done it.

WILL DOUBLE HIS OLD MAJORITY.

FUTILE EFFORTS TO DEFEAT
"SILVER DICK" BLAND.

POLL OF HIS DISTRICT TAKEN.

Not a Crumb of Comfort Along the Line for the Silver Leader's Opponents.

The desperate efforts of the Republicans and Wall street Democrats to defeat Richard P. Bland for Congress in the Eighth District, are going to fail. Mr. Bland will be elected by a majority probably greater than any ever given him in the district. The poll of the thirteen counties comprising the Eighth District has not yet been completed, but enough school districts have reported to the State Committee to make it certain beyond doubt that Mr. Bland, the great silver leader, will have a majority of at least 3,000.

In '92 Mr. Bland was elected by a majority of 2,370. In the landslide of '94 he was defeated by J. D. Hubbard of Morgan by a plurality of 70. The same conditions do not exist this year, and Mr. Bland is certain to defeat the combined opposition by a handsome vote. For two months the Eighth District has been the battleground of the Republicans and Wall street Democrats. Their best orators have been campaigning against Mr. Bland and every effort has been put forth to encompass his defeat. But the returns from the district show that the Democratic gains everywhere. And Mr. Bland's election is assured.

The figures given by the poll are positive assurances of a great victory for him Nov. 3. Partial returns from ten counties show decided Democratic gains, even in heretofore strong Republican counties. As shown by the poll, this is the way the district stands now:

Cooper County—53 districts; 41 polled; Democrats, 1,595; Republicans, 1,395; Populists, 28; doubtful Democrats, 2; doubtful Republicans, 138.
Miller County—52 districts; 27 polled; Democrats, 527; Republicans, 521; Populists, 8; doubtful Democrats, 6; doubtful Republicans, 14.
Dallas County—33 districts; 20 polled; Democrats, 344; Republicans, 250; Populists, 14; doubtful Democrats, 2; doubtful Republicans, 35.
Phillips County—77 districts; 24 polled; Democrats, 500; Republicans, 187; Populists, 154; doubtful Democrats, 26; doubtful Republicans, 64.
Monte Carlo County—34 districts; 24 polled; Democrats, 797; Republicans, 711; Populists, 27; doubtful Democrats, 27; doubtful Republicans, 11.
Callaway County—Complete poll; Democrats, 3,914; Republicans, 1,208; Goldbugs, 106; Silver Republicans, 10; doubtful Democrats, 18; Silver Republicans who will vote for Bryan and Sewall, 18; Silver Republicans who will vote Democratic State and Democratic ticket, 18; doubtful Democrats, 27; doubtful Republicans, 11; doubtful Democrats, 24; doubtful Republicans, 11.
Laclede County, Mr. Bland's home, gave him 1,213 votes 2 years ago. This year the poll shows he will get 1,445 votes, a gain of nearly 400 votes.

He told his plainly that he has not yet been polled. In 1892 it gave Bland 1,283 and Hubbard 1,175.

The convincing feature of the poll thus far made is that no county gives a majority for the Republicans. On that basis it would appear that Mr. Bland would be elected by at least 5,000 votes. But allowing for the districts not yet reported, his majority may safely be put at 3,000.

This is the district where the Republicans and goldbugs centered their strength. FEAR OPEN DISCUSSION. Missouri Pacific Railroad to Let Its Men Read the Post-Dispatch. The Missouri Pacific Railroad will not let its employees read the Post-Dispatch if the company can help it. A canvasser for the Post-Dispatch visited the car shops at noon hour Wednesday when the men are at leisure. He was trying to make a living canvasser, but he was told that the company did not want its employees to read the Post-Dispatch. The company is sending its men goldbug papers during the campaign, in the hope of converting them to the gold standard.
